19th Conference of Food Microbiology

The microbiology of food and foodstuff comprises a variety of different aspects. From physiology of a single bacterial cell towards microbiota and their interaction with the environment. In this context, we are pleased to announce the 19th conference of food microbiology. The congress is organised by the BfR as well as the joint special group for food microbiology and hygiene of the Association for General and Applied Microbiology (VAAM) and the German Society for Hygiene and Microbiology (DGHM). The conference will give insights into latent research on food microbiology and hygiene. According to the one health approach we'll try to enlighten the way from molecule to the mouth. The congress should provide an interactive way to share knowledge and network with other researchers from all fields of food microbiology and hygiene.

About the BfR

The German Federal Institute for Risk Assessment (BfR) is a scientifically independent institution within the portfolio of the German Federal Ministry of Food and Agriculture (BMEL). It advises the Federal Government and the federal states (“Laender”) on questions of food, chemicals and product safety. The BfR conducts its own research on topics that are closely linked to its assessment tasks.
